

The Halo Virus origin explains multiple “coronas”. It is a lab manufacture. No question.

It is impossible to overstate the danger

(SLOTH, p. 2455)

These are E. coli cloned dozens of times into learning to breathe. E. coli Plasmids reproduce using their own DNA, independently of host DNA. This is so incredibly dangerous it is difficult to describe. Put it this way: these are ancient survival mechanisms. This concoction robs human airways at all costs... The human host dies, so that the parasite may live: “Coronavirus”. These blisters also pop in human flesh when EMF radiation frequency(s) are amplified.

Blister POX

In 2009, the NIH stopped monitoring E. coli. It is not considered dangerous because it is claimed it cannot “invaginate (absorb other bacteria into its outer layer - skin)”. This Obscurity is concocted in 1997. It hasn't been E. coli for quite some time. Multiple bacteria, a paramecium, and yeast, spoiled human blood, mammal parts commingle in CORE A.
